

WASTE IN SCHOOLS TRAINING AND RESOURCES

Duration

One-day waste education training and resource packages

What is it about?

Schools play a vital role in reducing waste across communities and engaging with them effectively can lead to widespread projects undertaken by parents and local businesses. Changeworks has over 10 years experience reducing waste in schools and can provide training in how best to work with young people and teachers. We can provide ideas, resources and materials that result in reduced waste and supports any schools Eco Schools ambitions.

Training

As the Changeworks team are all ex-teachers, trainees learn top tips and techniques in pitching to the right level, motivating pupils and classroom management. You will explore activities that support the 3 R's including waste audits, composting, food waste, paper waste prevention and activities for nursery and secondary pupils.

Working in Schools with Waste half day training is around £700 inclusive of VAT*

Resources

Finish Your Food is a new and exciting project pack that leads to real food waste reduction. On average schools reduce their food waste by 30% during the project and parents are encouraged to address their food waste at the same time. Using the character 'Mr Silly Sausage' pupils enjoy a presentation, use a booklet to record their efforts and then reduce their food waste on Finish Your Food Day. The essential resource package costs around £300 inclusive of VAT and includes:

- Finish Your Food template Powerpoint presentation
- Finish Your Food Eco notice board A3 poster
- 250 Finish Your Food A4 four page leaflets
- 250 Finish Your Food stickers

We have a range of other resources, which are available. Please contact us for more information.

How will it add to the work of our group?

- Wider portfolio of tried and tested resources to engage schools and communities
- Achieve waste reduction targets
- Increased confidence to work with children and young people

These are a sample costs only and is dependant on location. Please contact us for a no-obligation quote.
